WILL RIDE FREE IN SPITE OF LAW

LEGAL AUTHORITIES SAY CONTRACTS WITH RAILWAY AND TELEPHONE COMPANIES WILL STAND.

WERE MADE BEFORE NEW LAW

The Public Utilities Act, Say the Attorneys, Cannot Affect the Old Contracts.

After the new utilities law passed at the last session of the legislature with all its drastic provisions against discrimination and free service goes into effect Jan. 1, 1914, the police and firemen of Dixon will still continue to ride free on street cars and the city hall will continue to enjoy free telephone service.

These rights are based upon contracts.

A constitutional provision prohibits the legislature from enacting any law which invalidates a contract in effect when the law is passed. The ordinances by which the telephone and street car companies are permitted to do business in the city were passed before the utilities act and the provisions inserted in them constitute a valid contract to legal authorities.

Under the franchise granted the telephone companies they are required to furnish free telephones for certain offices in the city hall and also for the police and fire departments.

Bills are presented to the city monthly for toll charges but all service within the city is free.

WARNS DIXONITES TO LOOK OUT FOR FIRES

CHRISTMAS TREES AND TRIMMINGS ARE VERY INFLAMMABLE—WATCH CANDLES

Commissioner M. J. Gannon of the department of public health and safety and Fire Chief Thomas Coffey have issued their annual warning concerning the inflammability of Christmas trees and appurtenances; and the co-operation of all citizens is asked to prevent a conflagration on Christmas eve.

The use of cotton batting to represent snow, pop-corn, etc., on or about the trees is discouraged, and the placing of the candles should be done with great care, as the pine trees themselves are exceedingly inflammable. If snow must be represented, asbestos should be used, and metallic tinsel should be used on the tree. A little care on the part of the people, say the officials, may prevent an accident that would turn holiday joy into sorrow.

I. N. U. TEAM KEEPS ON LOSING GAMES

CELLAR OCCUPANTS DROPPED THREE MORE TO LEIVAN'S LAST EVENING.

SCHUMANN-HEINK SEEKS THIRD DIVORCE

OPERA SINGER WELL KNOWN IN DIXON, CHARGES DESERTION.

Madame Schumann-Heink, the opera singer, who has many friends here as the result of her concert at the Assembly a few years ago, has filed suit for divorce against William Rapp, her third husband, charging desertion. The Rapps have no children, but the singer has eight by her two former marriages. Family difficulties are said to underlie the divorce proceedings. Rapp, who is 40 years old, a lawyer and a man of means, is said to be in New York.

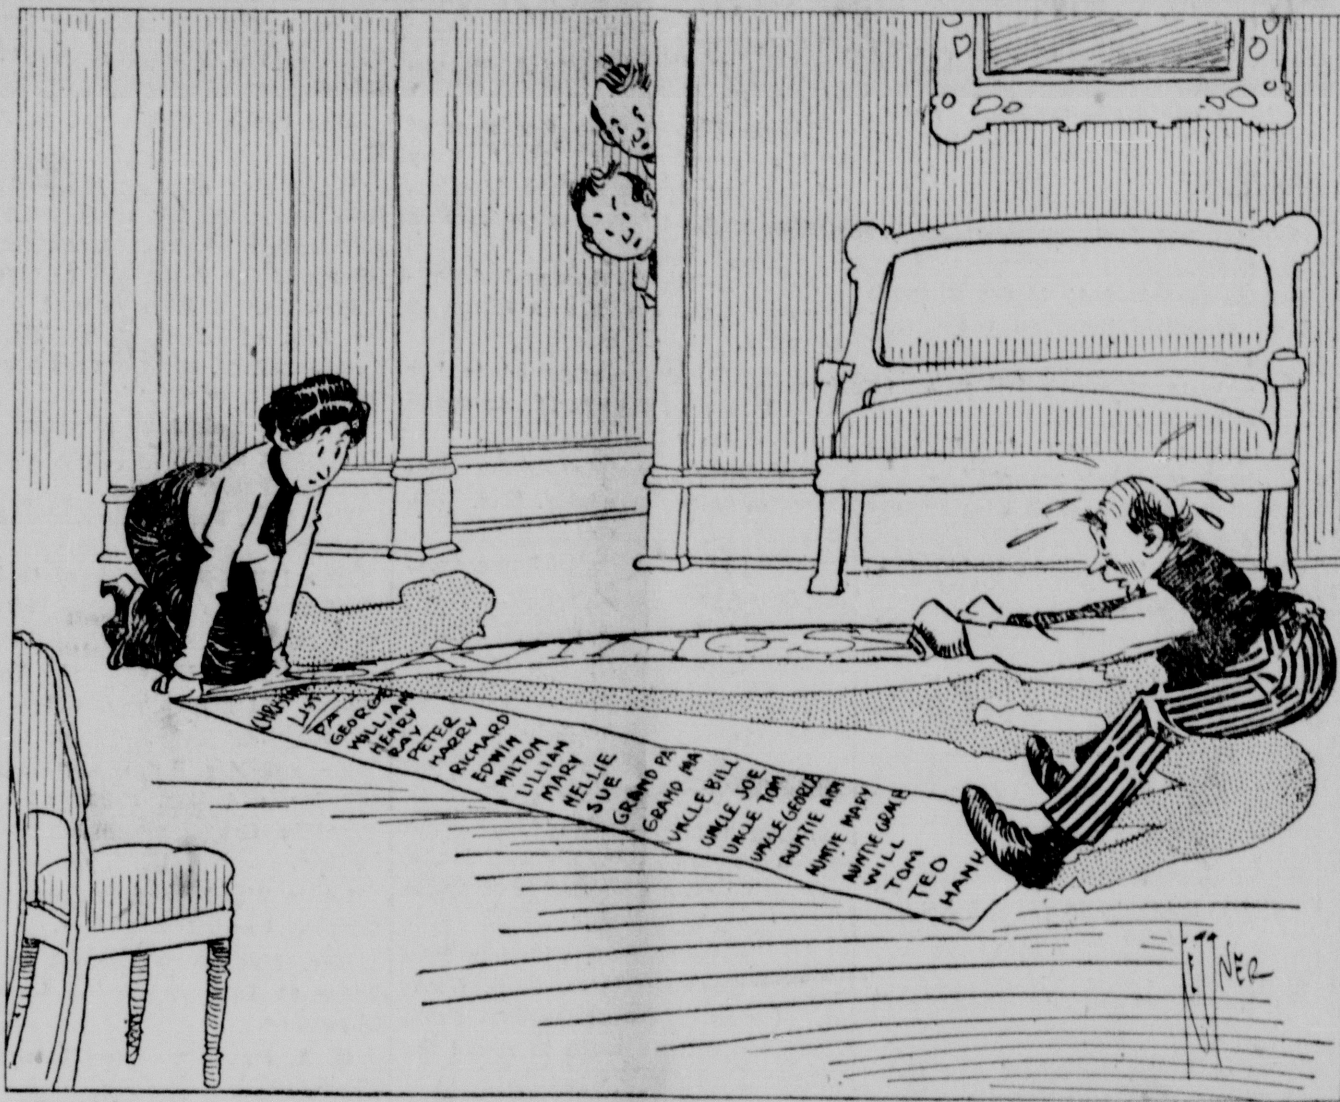

WINTER BROUGHT FIRST SNOW

Winter, officially inaugurated yesterday, brought the first real snow storm of the season, for during the night and early morning three inches of the white mantle fell. Almost all of the "beautiful" fell in the wee sma' hours of the morning and people of this vicinity were genuinely surprised on awakening. Lovers of the white Christmas and the small children are therefore made happy.

KERNAN FIGURED IN A NOVEL PLAY

FORMER DIXON BROWN RETIRED A RUNNER WITHOUT HAVING BALL.

The following from the Chicago Post, concerning Joe Kernan, a former Dixon Brown, will be read with interest by all Dixon fans:

Joe Kernan, the little third baseman tried out by the Sox last season, is noted because he once put out a runner in a league game without having the ball in his hands.

Joe was with Oshkosh in the Wisconsin-Illinois league at the time, and the battle was close. A visiting runner reached third, two were out and a strong batter was up. It looked pretty dark for Oshkosh. This was when Joe framed it up.

He ran over to his pitcher and whispered to him to keep the ball covered. Then he ran over to the umpire, held out his hands as if concealing the ball and said, "Watch this play I'm going to spring."

As he trotted back to third he opened his hands and the runner saw no sign of a ball. The latter led off the base. Immediately Joe darted at him, touched the man and threw his glove on the ground.

"You're out," yelled the umpire, who had his eyes peeled for the play.

The Oshkosh boys ran to their bench. Kernan managing to get near his pitcher and taking the ball out of his hands. He threw this back to the diamond.

The yowl which arose from the opposition was something frightful. But the umpire refused to budge. He actually claimed he had seen the ball in Kernan's hands.

HOLIDAY HOURS.

The barber shops of this city will keep open tomorrow, Wednesday, evening until 10 o'clock in order that all patrons may have their wants attended to before Christmas, as the shops will not open Christmas day.

Regular holiday hours will prevail at the postoffice, the banks will all be closed all day on the holiday and practically all of the business houses will be closed the entire day, in accordance with the usual custom the Telegraph will issue no paper on the holiday.

CLEANED WALKS.

Contractor McAlpine gained the commendation of many pedestrians this morning by putting a force of men at work removing the snow from the walks around the new Dixon National bank building. Usually builders do not have so much consideration for the public.

MUNICIPAL TREE IS READY FOR CEREMONY

TREE LIGHTED TONIGHT—SINGING COMMENCES TOMORROW NIGHT.

PROGRAM FOR THE WEEK GIVEN

Singing Every Evening—Candy Will Be Distributed By a Real Santa Claus.

The municipal Christmas tree will be lighted for the first time this evening, from 7 to 9:30 o'clock, and will doubtless draw large crowds. A force of men from the I. N. U. were at work early this morning getting the tree in condition or its first public appearance.

The work and expense the I. N. U. is being put to to get the tree up, wired and lighted is considerable, and they deserve great credit for their generosity.

All of Dixon should turn out to see the tree and hear the carols that will be sung every evening, commencing with Christmas eve. The tree will be lighted every night during holiday week, J. T. Lawrence is the gentleman to whom Dixon is indebted for the tree.

The program for the week is follows:

Wednesday: Chorus from Presbyterian church and choir.

Thursday: The singing will be led by a chorus of voices of children from the 7th and 8th grades of the public schools.

Friday: A chorus from the Baptist church and choir.

Saturday: Choir of the Evangelical church assisted by the boys' quartet.

Sunday: Union chorus of voices from churches of the entire city.

Monday: Chorus choir from the M. E. church.

Tuesday: Chorus choir from the Lutheran church.

Wednesday: Union chorus.

The voices will be assisted by an orchestra each evening.

The tree is to be attended by a real Santa Claus. He has wireless that he will be down from the Pole to greet the little children of Dixon and give them candy by the hatful. Many of the local merchants have offered candy for the kiddies and this will be handed out to them wholesale.

IN NEW HOME.

Dr. C. A. E. LeSage moved into his new residence on East Fellows street yesterday. The new home is one of the most attractive in the city and the family are righteously proud of it.

NO SHOPLIFTING REPORTED HERE

POLICE HAVE RECEIVED NO COMPLAINTS OF SMALL THEFTS.

Many neighboring cities report a great deal of shoplifting during the present Christmas season, the reports indicating that when the stores have been crowded systematic lifting of valuable articles has been going on. However, inquiry among the local merchants and from the police shows that if there has been any thieving here it has been of articles of no great value.

It is not, however, always the practiced thief who tries to pick up small articles or even large bundles in passing through a crowded store. Often it is some sorely tempted person who has not the means to buy, and who is carried away with either the need of the things or the awful desire to possess them.

A girl who possesses a love for finery, or a woman with little children whose stockings are fast to go empty on account of lack of money to make Christmas purchases is often the offender.

FREEPORT FATHER IS SEARCHING FOR SON

AGED PARENT, LEFT ALONE, FEARS BOY HAS TAKEN OWN LIFE.

Freeport, Dec. 23.—W. T. Richards, of South street, has heard no word from his son, Oliver, who has been missing since Thursday night, and he fears the young man has ended his life. The young man is 22 years old. Mr. Richards is in distress and he cannot offer help to look for his son. The father is 66 years old and has been without employment for three months. Mrs. Richards has gone to Fairfield, Neb. to attend a sick daughter. They have a girl also at the Lincoln school for feeble minded. The unfortunate girl is blind.

X-MAS DINNER FOR 5 TO COST ABOUT $5

THIS WILL OF COURSE INCLUDE TURKEY AND USUAL "TRIMMINGS."

An extra supply of all kinds of specialties is being received in the local markets with the approach of the Yuletide and almost anything desired for the Christmas dinner may be secured from the local grocers and meat men. The Dixon housewife will have little trouble in finding the delicacies for the Christmas dinner, and despite the high cost of living the foodstuffs are selling at about the same price as at Thanksgiving. A family of five could buy supplies for an excellent Christmas dinner for $5 and still have enough left to buy a few cigars for father and candy for the children.

The greater part of the $5 would be expended for turkey. The birds now sell at from 25 to 28 cents per pound and it is expected that roast turkey will deck most of the tables on Christmas day.

The "king of the barnyard" can be properly stuffed with a pint of oysters, which would cost 25 cents. Cranberries are higher than usual, but a quart can be secured for 15 cents; 10 cents would provide the potatoes and 15 cents would provide three pounds of sweet potatoes as a side dish. As dessert an English plum pudding could be prepared for 40 cents and celery for 10 cents. Coffee, nuts and oranges or bananas would top off the dinner in fine style and the actual cost of the meal is $4.40; and it is believed there would be enough white meat and "pickings" left for supper. The following is the itemized cost of an average dinner for five persons:

Turkey, 10 lbs., dressed$2.80
Irish potatoes15
Cranberries15
Sweet potatoes15
Oysters (for dressing)25
Celery10
Plum pudding30
Coffee10
Nuts25
Oranges, half dozen20
Total$5.40

ALL RECORDS BROKEN AT DIXON POST OFFICE

SALE OF STAMPS YESTERDAY IS HEAVIEST IN HISTORY OF OFFICE.

All records for the sale of stamps were broken at the Dixon postoffice yesterday when an exceptionally big demand was made for all kinds of stamps, the receipts for the day totalling $398, which amount is at least $20 higher than that taken in during any one day in the history of the office.

The Christmas business this year has been exceptionally large, the parcel post innovation drawing a great many Christmas shipments. And although this is the first Christmas the parcel post has been in force and the work has been much heavier than heretofore, Postmaster Frye and his assistants have taken care of all the extra work without allowing the mail to become congested in any particular.

The officials and clerks are of the opinion that the campaign which has been waged for early shopping and early shipping has had its effect, for many Christmas gifts were sent out last week, and the business at the postoffice today also shows a marked decline from yesterday.

Merchants and clerks also agree that the early shopping campaign has had its effect, and the employees of the express company add their testimonial of the good that has resulted.

MISS DECKER IS HOME.

Miss Ada Decker, who has been very ill in Stockton, Cal., where she is superintendent of the hospital, has arrived here accompanied by her sister, Bessie, who was called west by her illness. Miss Decker is considerably improved, much to the relief of many friends.

NEVER WAS SO MUCH GIVING IN DIXON

WHOLESALE CHARITY SEARCHING OUT THE HOMES OF DIXON'S POOR.

MANY JOIN THE GOOD FELLOWS

Churches and Sunday Schools Are Great Aid in Good Fellow Movement.

The Sunday schools and churches of the city are doing a great deal to aid the Good Fellow movement, and have taken many of the families on the Good Fellow list. The Methodist Sunday school made a great donation to the cause last Sunday and took a large number of little kiddies and will provide them with a fine Christmas. Every name they have will be well provided for, we are assured of that. The action is in strict accordance with the Good Fellow movement, and the gifts will be labeled Good Fellows.

Never in the history of Dixon has there been as much charity work and as great an amount of gifts distributed to the poor as this year. Grocers and other merchants from whom things for the poor are purchased and who help in the distribution of the things, are best able to judge the amount being sent out, and they say there has never been as much giving as there has been this year. If there is a poor family in Dixon that doesn't get a Christmas this season, it is because they haven't been discovered by the various organizations that are doing the work.

The names on the Good Fellows list are all cared for. Every name has been either taken by some organization or individual, or has been provided for out of the store of clothing left at the Good Fellows headquarters and out of the cash fund, subscribed by the Dixon Good Fellows. This fund has been increased since yesterday by a dollar from "A Friend" and 50 cents from a young man who gave the signature of "B. B." This brings the total up to $89.

WOLFE VICTORIOUS IN ASHTON MATCH

DIXON BOY GOT BEST TWO OUT OF THREE FROM ROCK ISLAND WRESTLER.

"Red" Wolfe of this city continued his excellent work on the mat at Ashton last evening by defeating "Speedy" Peterson of Rock Island, although the Rock Island lad outweighed him fifteen pounds. The match, which was preceded by a preliminary in which Carson of Dixon defeated Blanke of Ashton, was well attended and aroused a great deal of interest. Wolfe took the first fall in 31 minutes, throwing his competitor with a toe hold. The second fall went to Peterson in six minutes, Wolfe sustaining a slight injury which incapacitated him for a few minutes. He came back strong, however, in grand style and took the third fall in 26 minutes, a bar arm hold accomplishing the undoing of the Rock Island lad.

PLAN MONUMENT ON HISTORIC SPOT

DEKALB COUNTY PEOPLE TO HONOR LINCOLN, DAVIS AND TAYLOR

A monument of boulders to be erected in Coltonville, near DeKalb, will mark a site famed in history.

It was at this place that Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis and Zachary Taylor held a conference at the time of the Blackhawk war.

BEAUTIFUL SNOW.

In the early part of the American war, one dark Saturday morning, in the dead of winter, there died at the Commercial Hospital, Cincinnati, a young woman over whose head only two-and-twenty summers had passed. She had once been possessed or an enviable share of beauty; had been, as she herself said, "flattered and sought for the charms of her face," but alas! upon her fair brow had long been written that pitiable word—UNFORTUNATE! Once the pride of respectable parentage, her first wrong step was the small beginning of the "same old story over again." Highly educated and accomplished in manner, she might have shone in the best of society. But the evil hour that proved her ruin was but the door from childhood; and having spent a young life in disgrace and shame, the poor or friendless one died the melancholy death of a broken-hearted outcast.

Among her personal effects was found, in manuscript, the "Beautiful Snow," which was immediately carried to Enos B. Reed, a gentleman of culture and literary tastes, who was at that time editor of the National Union. In the columns of that paper, on the morning following the girl's death, the poem appeared in print for the first time. When the paper containing the poem came out on Sunday morning the body of the victim had not yet received burial. The attention of Thomas Buchanan Read, one of America's foremost poets, was soon directed to the newly published lines, who was so taken with the stirring pathos that he immediately followed the corpse to its final resting place.

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
Filling the sky and earth below,
Over the housetops, over the street,
Over the heads of the people you meet;
Dancing, flirting, skimming along,
Beautiful snow! it can do no wrong;
Flying to kiss a fair lady's cheek,
Clinging to lips in frolicsome freak;
Beautiful snow from heaven above,
Pure as an angel, gentle as a dove!
Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
How the flakes gather and laugh as they go,
Whirling about in maddening fun;
Chasing, laughing, hurrying by

It lights on the face and it sparkles
the eye;
And the dogs with a bark and a bound Snap at the crystals as they eddy around;
The town is alive, and its heart is a glow,
To welcome the coming of beautiful snow!
How wild the crowd goes swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor and song;
How the gay sleighs like meteors flash by,
Bright for a moment, then lost to
the eye;
Ringing, swinging, dashing they go
Over the crest of the beautiful snow;
Snow so pure when it falls from the sky,
To be trampled and tracked by thousands of feet,
Till it blends with the filth in the horrible street.

Once I was pure as the snow, but I fell,
Fell like the snow flakes from heaven
to hell;
Fell to be trampled like filth in the street,
Fell to be scoffed, to be spit on and beat;
Pleading, cursing, dreading to die,
Selling my soul to whoever would buy;
Dealing in shame for a morsel of bread,
Hating the living and fearing the dead,
Merciful God! have I fallen so low!
And yet I was once like the beautiful
snow.

Once I was fair as the beautiful
snow,
With an eye like a crystal, a heart
like its glow;
Once I was loved for my innocent
grace—
Flattered and sought for the charms of my face!
Fathers, mothers, sisters, all,
God and myself I have lost by my fall;
The vilest wretch that goes shivering by
Will make a wide sweep lest I wander too nigh;

For all that is on or above me I know,
There is nothing so pure as the beautiful snow.
How strange it should be that this
beautiful snow
Should fall on a sinner with no where to go!
How strange it should be when the
night comes again,
If the snow and the ice struck my desperate brain.
Painting, freezing, dying alone,
Too wicked for prayer, too weak for a moan,
To be heard in the streets of the crazy town,
Gone mad in the joy of snow coming down;
To be and to die in my horrible woe,
With a bed and a shroud of the beautiful snow.

Helpless and foul as the trampled
snow,
Sinner, despair not! Christ stoopeth
The Crucified hung on the cursed tree!
His accents of mercy fell soft on thine ear,
"Is there mercy for me? Will He heed my weak prayer?"
O God! in the stream that for sinners did flow
Wash me, and I shall be whiter than than snow.

MODERN DRESS CRUSADE
Cleveland, Dec. 23.—Cleveland women and club members are being enlisted in a war against present day modes of feminine wearing apparel.
The movement follows an attack on prevailing styles made at a convention of the county W. C. T. U., when resolutions passed reciting as follows: "Whereas, many women are given to immodesty as expressed in wearing apparel, and, whereas, this body believes such a practice tends toward the demoralization of society, the destruction of homes and the extension of the white slave traffic, therefore, be it resolved, that we condemn all transparent wearing apparel or any other kind which exposes the form or figure of women and take a stand for simplicity and modesty, which are expressions of character in dress."

and the Cleveland mothers' congress are contemplating joining the movement.

Mexico City, Dec. 23.—Special to banks of the republic on the brink of failure and the rebels menacing

the capital, the Mexican government today gave itself up to celebrating President Huerta's birthday.

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home
A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes.
Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils.
Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually cure an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the faded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste.
Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic cough.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup.
This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacal and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.
A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Dementtown

Well, anyway, it will make those songs about "Welcome Little Snowflakes" etc., appropriate.

And the o. f. folks who wouldn't believe it was Christmas unless it was white are surely satisfied.

While a lot of us poor ginks with thin soled shoes and no rubbers gave the "white mantle" (stolen from the cannery) a negative commendation.

But at that you have to hand it to snow for a lot of hearty morning greetings that otherwise never materialize. Maybe it's because people have to get out early to clear a path, but it's a fact that there are more good natured remarks and morning greetings when it snows than when it doesn't.

Pets We Heard.

(Which did you say?)
Well, that's a good job. It'll give you an appetite for breakfast.

Ain't this a heluva mess?
Keep at it, old boy; that's the way
I got my start.

When you get through you can go to my house. There's a lot of it there.

Etc., etc.

Two Reasons.
That expression of supreme joy, contentment and expectation you see on the mug of every school kid nowadays is not caused entirely by their constant thought of coming Christmas presents. The knowledge that there will be no school for two weeks has something to do with it.

Arbitration.

He was a member of the Peace society and he came across two lads in the back street fighting. He pushed through the crowd and persuaded them to desist. "Let me beg of you my good fellows, to settle your little dispute by arbitration. Each of you choose a half dozen friends to arbitrate.
"Hurrah!" yelled the crowd.
"Do as the gentleman says, boys."
Having seen the 12 arbitrators selected to the satisfaction of both sides, the man of peace went on his way rejoicing. Half an hour later he returned that way and found the whole street fighting, while police were rushing to the spot from all quarters. "Good gracious! what is the matter now?" asked the peacemaker of an onlooker. "Sure sir," was the reply, "the arbitrators are at work!"

WILSON CENSURES ORDER OF CARABAO

Tells Garrison and Daniels to Administer Reprimand for "Stunts."

HAD POOR IDEA OF "FUN"

President in Letter Asserts Men Responsible Ought to Put Duty Above Their Personal Indulgence.

Washington, Dec. 23.—President Wilson made public a letter addressed to Secretaries Garrison and Daniels, respectively, requesting that "a very serious reprimand" be administered to those army and navy officers who participated in the recent dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao, at which the administration's Philippine and other policies were satirized. His letter to the two secretaries follows: "My Dear Sirs—Allow me to thank you for your report on the action of certain officers of the army and navy at the recent dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao.

Officers Deserving of Reprimand. "The officers who were responsible for the program of the evening are certainly deserving of a very serious reprimand, which I hereby request be administered; and I cannot rid myself of a feeling of great disappointment that the general body of officers assembled at the dinner should have greeted the carrying out of such a program with apparent indifference to the fact that it violated some of the most dignified and sacred traditions of the service.

Unmercifully Scores Officers. "I am told that the songs and other amusements of the evening were intended and regarded as 'fun.' What are we to think of officers of the army and navy of the United States who think it 'fun' to bring their official superiors into ridicule and the policies of the government, which they are sworn to serve, with unquestioning loyalty, into contempt? If this is their idea of fun, what is their idea of duty? If they do not hold their loyalty above all silly effervescences of childish wit what about their profession do they hold sacred?

Says Standards Were Lowered. "My purpose, therefore, in administering this reprimand is to recall the men who are responsible for this lowering of standards to their ideal; to remind them of the high conscience with which they ought to put duty above personal indulgence and to think of themselves as responsible men and trusted soldiers even while they are amusing themselves as diners out.

"Sincerely yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

SUGAR BEET RATE CUT

New Tariff Blamed for Reduction of 50 Cents a Ton.

Vassar, Mich., Dec. 23.—In announcing the new schedule for sugar beets of five dollars per ton to the farmers who ship by freight and $5.50 to those who deliver beets to the factories in their own wagons, W. H. Wallace, general manager of the Michigan Sugar company says:

"Under the tariff reductions becoming effective the 4th of next March it became necessary for the sugar factories to buy their raw material at 50 cents per ton less, if they are to continue in operation. Thus, if after March 4 the duty on raws is subtracted from the present price of raws, delivered in New York, as will be possible under the new tariff, it naturally follows that such price will be considerably less than we have been paying the farmers for the raw sugar in beets.

The farmer does not suffer the loss.

New York, Dec. 23.—A decree of permanent separation from Dr. Joseph A. Blake, noted surgeon, is recommended in the report of a referee filed with the supreme court in favor of Catharine Ketchum Blake. WILSON LEAVES TODAY

Pass Christian, Miss., Awaits the Nation's Chief.

President Declares That More Trusts Will Follow Lead of Phone Trust and Dissolve.

Washington, Dec. 23.—President Wilson's Christmas vacation trip will begin today. Accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, his daughters, the Misses Margaret and Eleanor, and Dr. Carey T. Grayson, the president will depart from Washington at 10:45 o'clock tonight, according to his present plans, and will arrive on the Gulf coast Christmas morning. He probably will spend about three weeks at Pass Christian, Miss., where a ten-room house has been engaged for him.

The president paid his compliments to calamity howlers when he indicated to callers at the White House that the nation understands it is the duty of hard times prophets to keep busy at all times.

President Wilson let it be known that some other corporations besides the American Telephone and Telegraph company had shown a disposition to take the initiative in reorganizations to conform with the Sherman anti-trust law. The president did not specify what corporations he referred to, though in informal discussion of the subject with callers he spoke of having some in mind. He reiterated that there seemed to be a very general disposition to inquire what the law was, to know what would be expected of "big business" and a desire to comply with the spirit of the law.

Pass Christian, Miss., Dec. 23.—Cloaked under the garb of intense excitement, with a fine rain falling, Pass Christian, newly selected winter capital of the United States, is impatiently awaiting the arrival of the president. Mr. Wilson is expected to arrive at dawn Christmas morning. Preparations for his reception and entertainment during his three weeks' rest in the little gulf city have been perfected, and despite the intense rivalry which has arisen between Gulfport and Pass Christian over the entertainment of the chief executive, the innate hospitality born with the southern clime has predominated. His arrival at the Pass will officially open the winter season.

This gave rise to early reports that the steamer had foundered.

EMPRESS NEAR DEATH

Blast Wrecks Train Awaiting Czar's Mother.

Explosion Believed to Have Been Caused by Bomb Set to Assassinate Dowager Queen Marie.

Rostock, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Dec. 23.—An explosion occurred on the Russian court special train which was waiting in the railroad station here for the arrival of Dowager Empress Marie of Russia for Copenhagen. Several members of the train crew were badly injured.

The explosion occurred only a few minutes before the arrival of the dowager empress, who was bound for St. Petersburg.

According to the official account, "the explosion was caused by a defect in the lighting apparatus."

The explosion is in many quarters laid to a nihilist plot. Although it was at first reported that the explosion was caused by a defect in the lighting apparatus, it was circulated later that it was due to a bomb timed to go off when the dowager empress arrived. The German authorities have begun a rigid investigation into the affair. Dowager Empress Marie is one of those in the Russian court closest to the czar. She is said to have been influential in determining many of his policies, and for this reason has incurred the bitter enmity of the nihilists.

Copenhagen, Dec. 23.—A special messenger from Livadia arrived with dispatches from the czar to his mother, Empress Dowager Marie. The czar said that his son had now completely recovered from his illness that began last year. The imperial messenger brought photographs from the czar showing the czarvitch playing golf, riding and walking without assistance or the aid of sticks.

ASKS U. S. TO OWN WIRES

Rep. Lewis Says Action Would Cost Less Than Canal.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Government ownership of the nation's telephone lines would cost less than $900,000,000 and would present no greater difficulties of financing than did the Panama canal, Representative Lewis of Maryland told the house in an exhaustive analysis of his proposal to have those lines operated by the postoffice department.

Representative Lewis does not want the government to take over the telephone companies. His plan is to have the government first own the telephone network of the country, operate some of the telephone lines as telegraphs, and have the government system compete with the private telegraph companies as the parcel post competes with the express companies.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 23.—The occupants of the balloon Duisburg, which descended at Perm, European Russia, were arrested on suspicion of espionage when they arrived at Moscow by train.

Among those confirmed were George Fred Williams of Massachusetts to be minister to Greece and Brand Whitlock, former mayor of Toledo, to be minister to Belgium. There was opposition, but not of a serious character, to Whitlock. The appointment of Henry M. Pindell, the Peoria (Ill.) editor, to be ambassador to Russia, went over until after the holidays.

HIGH COURT DECISIONS

Dismisses Florida Tax Case Against Pullman Company.

Aetna Concerns Not Held For Payment of Policy Because Insurance Misrepresented Condition.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The United States Supreme court took a recess until January 1 after handing down the several decisions:

Dismissed a case involving a law of the state of Florida levying an annual tax on sleeping, parlor and dining cars hauled in that state. The Pullman car company fought the law and carried the case to the supreme court. The federal district court of Florida decided against the Pullman company, declaring the state had not exceeded its taxation powers. The court dismissed the case on a purely technical question and the validity of the act was in no wise passed upon.

Because he misrepresented his physical condition the supreme court held that the Aetna Life Insurance company could not be held for the payment of a policy of $5,000 to the heirs of the late John A. Salgue of Macon, Ga. Salgue died shortly after the policy was issued, but by reason of his misrepresentation, the court held that the policy was void. The lower federal courts uniformly decided in favor of Salgue's heirs, but the Aetna company appealed to the supreme court of the United States. The court also held that the decision applied in a similar case affecting the Prudential Life Insurance company.

DEATH SHATTERS ROMANCE

Believed Cong. I. S. Pepper and Miss Clark Were Friendly.

Washington, Dec. 23.—In the death at Clinton, Ia., of Representative Irvin S. Pepper of the Second Iowa district, friends of Mr. Pepper and Miss Genevieve Champ Clark, daughter of the speaker, saw the shattering of a romance that promised to lead to an early engagement. Speaker Clark issued a touching eulogy to the memory of the young representative, which reflected in no small degree the close personal attachment the speaker felt toward him.

Mr. Pepper recently suffered a relapse while convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever. He was operated on for peritonitis. Speaker Clark named 20 representatives to attend the funeral at Ottumwa Friday.

TO SHELL CITY; FOREIGNERS FLEE

Rebels Win First Fight in Second Battle for Mexican Town.

RUN CLOSES GREAT BANK

Second Largest in Republic Closes Doors—Dictator Makes Long Holiday So That People Can't Draw Funds.

Mexico City, Dec. 23.—The war department has received reports that the rebels are expected to bombard Tampico. This will endanger the lives of all residents of the city, including many Americans. It is believed here that the rebel artillery will first try to put out of commission the gunboats in the harbor.

Rebel troops have won the first fight in the second battle of Tampico and have seized points of strategic advantage, according to private reports. The latest message says the rebels are trying to force their way into the heart of the city.

Bank Fails to Open Doors. The Bank of London and Mexico closed its doors. It had been unable to get currency with which to pay depositors who sought to withdraw funds.

The suspension was not due to lack of assets, but merely to scarcity of currency. Both silver and gold had long been scarce and recently state bank bills were refused except in states where they were issued. The run on the bank began last Wednesday.

Huerta Helps Banks. By a decree issued by President Huerta every day until January 2 was made a legal holiday to check the run on the other banks in the capital. President Huerta said in the decree he deems such action necessary to protect the banks until public confidence was more nearly restored.

After the decree was issued the Bank of London and Mexico reopened, but, taking advantage of the opportunity afforded legally to refuse payments, ignored the long line of depositors seeking funds. It had paid out about $7,000,000.

It was announced at the palace that a contingent of Japanese marines that arrived during the day at Manzanillo on the cruiser "dzuino" would come to this capital this week.

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 23.—The home and other property of Jacob E. Touche, a native of Turkey, valued at $500,000, have been confiscated by Villa. Touche paid $10,000 for the release of a sister. His elaborate home in Chihuahua was one of the sights of the city.

Vera Cruz, Dec. 23.—The branch office at Vera Cruz of the Bank of London and Mexico was closed.

Rush Warships to Tampico.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Upon receipt of dispatches from Rear Admiral Fletcher, in charge of the American battleships in Mexican waters, the navy department ordered the gunboat Wheeling to proceed from Vera Cruz to Tampico, where the department was informed hostilities between the federal and rebel forces have been resumed. The English cruiser Suffolk also was reported to have been ordered by Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock to go at once to Tampico.

WICKERSHAM IN WARNING

Sees Peril to Government in Dissatisfaction.

Boston, Dec. 23.—"There is a movement on foot throughout the United States which threatens the stability of our constitutional government," said George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States, at the annual dinner of the Massachusetts Bar association.

"The best work that can be performed by a body of lawyers like this," he added, "is to put on the brakes at the right place and preventing the indignation of the people from destroying the best form of government yet conceived by man."

Mr. Wickersham had referred to various manifestations of existing unrest. One of these signs, he said, was that women were dissatisfied with the limitations of sex.

BANKERS HIT BY JURIST

Ohioan Says They Oppose Progressive Policies.

Millwaukee, Dec. 23.—Justice R. M. Wanamaker of the Ohio supreme court told the City club that cities should be given home rule, non-partisan elections, with divisions only on local issues. "Probably no other class of our business men is so vigorously and vehemently opposed to many of the progressive policies," he added in his speech, "as are bankers." He said also that changes in the Constitution of the United States were necessary.

Missing Bank Head Sought.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 23.—A warrant for the arrest of C. G. Ricker, formerly president of the defunct Yates Center National bank of Yates Center, Kan., has been issued, government officials here said. They said shortages and liabilities probably would amount to $175,000, and that Mr. Ricker had disappeared from his home in Yates Center.

"Bitter Root" Billings, Arbitrator

on the bar and smelled of his fingers. He seemed to just look it up both ways—regular human blotter. "You lap it up like a man," says I—like a cowman full grown. Ever been west?" "Nope," says he; "born here." "Well, I'm a stranger," says I, "out absorbing such beauties of architecture and free lunch as offers along the line. If I ain't keeping you up I'd be glad of your company."

"I'm your assistant lunch buster," says he, and in the course of things he further explained that he was a tugboat fireman out on a strike, giving me the following information about the thing: It all came up over a dose of dyspepsia. "Back up," interrupted "Kink," squirming. "Are you plumb bug? Get together! You're certainly the Raving Kid. You must have stone bruised your heel and got concession of the brain."

"Yes, sir—indigestion," Billings continued. "Old man Badrich of the Badrich Transportation company has it terrible. It lands on his solar every morning about 9 o'clock, getting worse steady, and reaches perihelion along about 11. He can tell the time of day by taste. One morning when his mouth felt like about 10:45 in comes a committee from Firemen and Engineers' local No. 21 with a demand for more wages, prodding him with the intimation that if he didn't ante they'd tie up all his boats."

"I s'pose a teaspoonful of baking soda, assimilated internally under the environments of his appendix, would have spared the strike and cheated me out of being a hero. As the poet might have said, 'Upon such slender pegs is this our greatness hung.'"

"Oh, Gosh!" exclaimed Mullins plausibly. "Anyhow, the bitterness in the old man's inner tubes showed in the bile of his answer, and he told 'em if they wanted more money he'd give 'em a chance to earn it—they could work nights as well as days. He intimated further that they'd ought to be satisfied with their wages, as they'd undoubtedly feller the same line of business in the next world and wouldn't get a cent for feeding the fires neither."

"Next morning the strike was called, and the guy that breathed treachery and walkouts was one 'Oily' Heegan, further submerged under the titles of president of the Federation of Fresh Water Firemen; also chairman of the United Water Front Workmen, which last takes in everything doing business along the river except the wharf rats and typhoid germs, and it's with the indisputability of this party that I infected myself to the detriment of labor and the triumph of the law."

"D. O'Hara Heegan is an able man, and inside of a week he'd spread the strike till it was the cleanest, dirtiest tiep ever known. The hospitals and morgues were full of nonunion men, but the river was empty all right. Yes; he had a persuading method of arbitration quite convincing to the most calloused, involving the laying on of the lead pipe."

"Things got to be pretty fierce by and by, for they had the police buffaloes, and disturbances got plentier than the casualties at a butchers' picnic. The strikers got hungry, too, finally, because the principles of unionism is like a rash on your mechanic, skin deep, inside, his gastrics work three shifts a day even if his outside is idle and steaming with socialism."

"'Oily' fed 'em dray loads of eloquence, but it didn't seem to be real filling. They'd leave the lectures and rob a bakery."

"He was a wonder, though; just sat in his office and kept the shipowners waiting in line, swearing bitter and reined cuss words about 'ignorant fiend' and 'cussed pedagogues,' which last, for 'Kink's' enlightenment, means a kind of Hebrew meeting house."

"These here details my new friend gave me, ending with a eulogy on 'Oily' Heegan, the 'dollar of the day.'"

"If he says starve we starve," says he, "and if he says work we work. See! Oh, he's the goods, he is! Let's go down by the river. Maybe we'll see him." So me and Murdock hiked down Water street, where they keep musk-quit netting over the bar fixtures and spit at the stove."

"We found him, a big mouthed, shifty kind of man, 'bout as cynical looking in the face as a black bass and full of wind as a toad fish. I exchanged drinks for principles of socialism and doing so happened to displease my roll. Murdock slipped away and made talk with a friend; then when Heegan had left he steers me out the back way into an alley. 'Short cut,' says he, 'to another and a better place.'"

"I follers through a back room; then as I steps out the door I'm grabbed by this new friend, while Murdock bathes my head with a gas pipe billy, one of the regulation, strike promoting kind, like they use for deceiving members into the glorious ranks of labor."

"I saw a 'burning of Rome' that was a dream and whole cloudbursts of shooting stars, but I yanked Mr. Enthusiastic Stranger away from my surcingle and threw him again the wall. In the shuffle Murdock shifts my ballast, though, and steams up the alley with my greenbacks, convolved by his friend."

"Wow-ow," says I, giving the distress signal so that the windows rattled and reaching for my holster. 'Rat' got them both, only the gun caught in my suspender. You see, not anticipating any live bird shoot I'd put it inside my pants band, under my vest, for appearances. A 45 is like fresh air to a drowning man—generally has to be drawn in haste—and neither one shouldn't be mislaid. I got her out at last and blazed away just a second after they dodged around the corner; then I hit the trail after 'em, letting go a few sky shots and getting a ghost dance holler off my stomach that had been troubling me. The wallop on the head made me dizzy, though, and I zigzagged awful, tacking out of the alley right into a policeman."

"Whee!" says I in joy, for he had Murdock safe by the bits, bucking consid'rably. "Stan' aside and lemme 'lectrocute 'im," says I. I throwed the gun on him, and the crowd dodged it into all the doorways and windows convenient, but I was so weakminded in the knees I stumbled over the curb and fell down."

"Next thing I knew we was all bouncing over the cobblestones in a patrol wagon."

"Well, in the morning I told my story to the judge, plain and unvarnished; then Murdock takes the stand and busts into song, claiming that he was coming through the alley toward Clark street when I staggered out back of a saloon and commenced to shoot at him. He saw I was drunk and fanned out, me shooting at him with every jump. He had proof, he said, and he called for the president of his union, Mr. Heegan. At the name all the loafers and stew bums in the courtroom stomped and said, 'Hear, hear!' while up steps this Napoleon of the hoboes."

"Sure, he knew Mr. Murdock, had known him for years, and he was perfectly reliable and honest. As to his robbing me, it was preposterous, because he himself was at the other end of the alley and saw the whole thing, just as Mr. Murdock related it."

"I jumps up. 'You're a liar, Heegan. I was buying booze for the two of you, but a policeman nailed me, choking off my rhetoric. Mr. Heegan leans over and whispers to the judge, while I got chilblains along my spine. 'Look here, kind judge,' says I, real winning and genteel, 'this man is so good at explaining things away, ask him to talk off this bump over my ear. I surely didn't get a buggy spoke and laminate myself on the nut.'"

"That'll do," says the judge. "Mr. Clerk, $10 and costs. Charge, drunk and disorderly. Next!"

"Hold on there," says I, ignorant of the involutions of justice, I guess I've got the bulge on you this time. They beat you to me, judge. I ain't got a cent. You can go through me and be welcome to half you find. I'll mail you ten when I get home though, honest."

"At that the audience giggled, and the judge says:

"Your honor doesn't appeal to me, Mr. Billings. Of course you have the privilege of working it out. Oh, glory, the 'privilege'!"

"Heegan nodded at this, and I realized what I was against. "Your honor," says I, with sarcastic refinements, "science tells us that a perfect vacuum ain't possible, but after watching you I know better, and for you, Mr. Workingman's Friend, us to the floor, and I run at Heegan."

"Pshaw! I never got started, nor I didn't rightfully come to till I rested in the workhouse, which last figger of speech is a pure and beautiful paradox."

"I ain't dwelling with glee on the next twenty-six days—$10 and costs, at four bits a day—but I left there saturated with such hatred for Heegan."

"I ain't dwelling with glee on the next twenty-six days—$10 and costs, at four bits a day—but I left there saturated with such hatred for Heegan."

desk. 'Collins, what d'ye say if we tow the Detroit out? Her crew has stayed with us so far, and they'll stick now if we'll say the word. The unions are hungry and scrapping among themselves, and the men want to go back to work. It's just that devil of a Heegan that holds 'em. If they see we've got a tug crew that'll go they'll arbitrate, and we'll kill the strike.'"

"Yes, sir," says Collins. "But where's the tug crew, Mr. Badrich?" "Right here! We three and Murphy, the bookkeeper. Blast this idleness! I want fight!"

"I'll take the same," says I, "when I get the price."

"That's all right. You've put the spirit into me, and I'll see you through. Can you run an engine? Good! I'll take the wheel, and the others 'll fire. It's going to be risky work, though. You won't back out, eh?"

"Reddy" interrupted Billings here loudly with a snort of disgust, while "Bitter Root" ran his fingers through his hair before continuing. Martin was listening intently.

"The old man arranged to have a squad of cops on all the bridges, and I begin anticipating hiarities for next day."

"The news got out, of course, through the secretaries of police headquarters, and when we ran up the river for our tow it looked like every striker west of Pittsburg had his family on the docks to see the barbecue, accompanied by enough cobblestones and scrap iron to ballast a battleship. All we got going up was repartee, but I figured we'd need armor getting back."

"We passed a hawser to the Detroit, and I turned the gas into the tug, blowing for the Wells street bridge. Then war began. I leans out the door just in time to see the mob charge the bridge. The cops clubbed 'em back, while a roar went up from the docks and roof tops that was like a bad dream. I couldn't see her move none, though, and old man Badrich hollered again, expurgating himself of as nob by a line of cuss words as you'll muster outside the cattle belt."

"Soak 'em, I yells. 'Give 'em all the arbitration you've got handy. If she don't open, we'll jump her,' and I lets out another notch, so that we went plowing and hollering toward the draw."

"It looked like we'd have to hurdle it sure enough, but the police beat the crowd back just in time. She wasn't clear open, though, and our barge caromed off the spiles. It was like a nigger butting a persimmon tree—

—we rattled off a shower of missiles like an abnormal hailstorm. Talk about your coast defense; they heaved everything at us from bad names to railroad iron, and we lost all our window glass the first clatter, while the smokestack looked like a pretzel with cramps."

"When we scraped through I looked back with pity at the Detroit's crew. She hadn't any wheelhouse, and the helmsman was due to get all the attention that was coming to him. They'd built up a barricade of potato sacks, chicken coops and bric-a-brac around the wheel that protected 'em somewhat, but even while I watched some Polack filtered a brick through and laid out the quartermaster cold, and he was drug off. Oh, it was refined and aesthetic!"

"Well, we run the gantlet, presented every block with stuff ranging in tensile strength from insults to asphalt pavements and noise. Say, all the racket in the world was a whisper. I caught a glimpse of the old man leaning out of the pilothouse where a window had been, his white hair bristly and his nostrils h'isted, embellishing the air with surprising flights of gleeful profanity."

"Hooray, this is living!" he yells, saying me shoveling the deck out from under the junk. 'Best scrap I've had in years.' And just then some baseball player throwed in from center field, catching him in the neck with a tomato. Gee, that man's an honor to the faculty of speech!"

"I was done bullly till a cobblestone bounced into the engine room, making a billiard with my off knee. Then I got kind of peevish."

"Rush street bridge is the last one, and they'd massed there on both sides, like fleas on a razorback. Think I, 'If we make it through here, we've busted the strike,' and I glances back at the Detroit just in time to see her crew pulling their captain into the deck house limp and bleeding. The barricade was all knocked to pieces, and they'd flunked absolute. Don't blame 'em much either, as it was sure death to stand out in the open under the rain of stuff that come from the bridges. Of course with no steering she commenced to swing off. I yells:

"Grab that wheel! Grab it quick! We'll hit the bridge! But it was like deaf and dumb talk in a boiler shop, while a wilder howl went up from the water front as they seen what they'd done and smelled victory."

"We've got one chance, thinks I, 'but if she strikes we're gone. They'll swamp us sure, and all the police in Cook county won't save enough for to hold services on.' Then I throwed a look at the opening ahead and the pessimists froze in me."

"I forgot all about the resiliency of bricks and the tabic manners of riots, for there, on top of a bunch of spiles, c'm, masterful and bloated with perjuries, was 'Oily' Heegan, dictating the disposition of his forces, the light of victory in his shifty little eyes."

"Ten dollars and costs," I shrieks, seeing red. 'Lemme crawl up them spiles to you!'

"Then inspiration seized me. My soul riz up and grappled with the crisis, for right under my nit, coiled, suggestive and pleading, was one of the tug's heating lines, 'bout a three-eighths size. I slips a running knot in the end and divides the coils, crouching behind the deck house till we come ahead of him; then I straightened, gave it a swinging heave, and the noose sailed up and settled over him fine and daisy."

"I jerked back, and 'Oily' Heegan did a high dive from Rush street that was a geometrical joy. He hit kind of amateurish, doing what we used to call a 'belly buster' back home, but quite satisfying for a maiden effort, and I reeled him in astern."

"Your Chicago man ain't a gamy fish. He come up tame and squirting sewage like a dissolute porpoise, while I played him out where he'd get the thrash of the propeller."

"'Help!' he yells. 'I'm a drowning.' "Ten dollars and costs," says I, letting him under again. 'Do you know who you're drinking with this time, hey?'

"I reckon the astonishment of the mob was equal to Heegan's. Anyhow, I'm told that we was favored with such quietness that my voice sounded four blocks, simply aching with satisfactions. Then pandemonium tore loose, but I was so engrossed in sweet converse I never noticed it or noticed that the Detroit had slid through the draw by a hair and we was bound for the blue and smiling lake."

"For God's sake lemme up," says Heegan, splashing along and looking strangely. I hauls him in where he wouldn't miss any of my ironies."

"I just can't do it, 'Oily,' says I. You're plumb nasty with boycotts and picketings and compulsory arbitrations. I'm going to clean you up, and I sozzled him under like a wet shirt."

"I drag him out again and continues: "This is Chinaman's work, 'Oily,' but I lost my pride in the bridewell, thanks to you. It's tough on St. Louis to laundry you upstream this way, but maybe the worst of your heresies 'll be purified when they get that far."

You know the Chicago river runs uphill out of Lake Michigan through the drainage canal and into the St. Louis waterworks. Sure it does. Most unnatural stream I ever see about direction and smells."

"I was getting a good deal of enjoyment and infections out of him when old man Badrich ran back enameled with blood and passe tomato juice, the red in his white hair making his top look like one of these fancy ice cream drinks you get at a soda fountain."

"Here, here! You'll kill him," says he, so I hauled him aboard, dripping and clingy, wringing him out good and thorough—by the neck. He made a fine mop."

"These clippings," continued "Bitter Root," fishing into his pocket, "tell in beautiful figures how the last seen of 'Oily' Heegan was hystorysting the deck of a 'sooty little tugboat' under the admonishments and feet of 'Bitter Root' Billings of Montana, and they state how the strikers tried to get tugs for pursuit and couldn't and how all day long from the houseboats was visible a tugboat maddly cruising about inside the outer cribs, busting the silence with joyful blasts of victory, and they'll further state that about dark she steamed up the river, tired and dragged, with a bony looking cowboy inhaling cigarettes on the stern bits, holding a three foot knotted rope in his lap. When a delegation of strikers met her, inquiring about one D. O'Hara Heegan, it says like this: And Billings read laboriously as follows:

"Then the bronzed and lanky man arose with a smile of rare contentment, threw overboard the cigarette and, calling loudly, 'Come out of that!' and the president of the Federation of Fresh Water Firemen dragged himself wearily out into the flickering lights. He was black and drenched and streaked with sweat; also he shone with the grease and oils of the engines, while the palms of his hands were covered with painful blisters from unwanted intimate contact with shovels and drawers. It was seen that he winced fearfully as the cowboy twirled the rope end."

"He's got the makings of a fair fireman," said the stranger. "All he wants is practice."

"Then as the delegation murmured angrily he held up his hand and in the ensuing silence said:

"Boys, the strike's over. Mr. Heegan has arbitrated."

AMONG THE CATS IS LATEST FUR

Among the less expensive furs, civet cat is taking a prominent place in the world of fashion in Paris. This quaint fur looks extremely well when worn in the form of stole and big muff with plain, tailor-made costumes. The white markings give it a cheerful aspect, and it is so very soft that it ruffles up about the throat in a fascinating manner.

Some charming sets have been seen recently, consisting of muff and wide stole, made of musquash and civet cat combined, the middle part of the fur being in the plain dark shade and the borders in the brown and white civet.

The new muffs, which are fashioned like a loose bolster, the ends being quite small, are very effective when made of these two furs, the whole of the center of the "bolster" being in musquash and the small ends in civet cat. Very many of the new muffs, particularly those made in the various shades, are only faced with fur, the back being made of pleated or gathered mirror velvet, or the new crepe de chine, which shows velvet flowers on its supple surface.

A great many are following our suggestion and are securing The Telegraph as a Christmas gift to out of town people. The Daily is $3 a year. The SemiWeekly $1.50, postpaid for one year by mail.

Had No Objection.
Night was approaching and it was raining hard. The traveler dismounted from his horse and rapped at the door of the one farmhouse he had struck in a five-mile stretch of traveling. No one came to the door.

As he stood on the doorstep the water from the eaves trickled down his collar. He rapped again. Still no answer. He could feel the stream of water coursing down his back. Another spell of pounding and finally the head of a lad of twelve was stuck out of the second-story window.

"Water what?" It asked.

"I want to know if I can stay here over night," the traveler answered testily.

The red-headed lad watched the man for a minute or two before answering. "Ye kin fer all of me," he finally answered, and then closed the window.

Friendship.
A little boy got out of bed wrong one morning and was so hateful all day that his father finally found it necessary to punish him.

A little while after the ordeal was over his mother found him out back of the barn tenderly caressing and petting an old ram that was pastured there. Her heart was touched by this display of kindness and she went to where he sat, she inquired:

"What makes my little boy so good to the old sheep?"

He did not "top or look up but answered, stifling a sob:

"Cause he just butted pa."

CASH DIVIDENDS ON GOODS YOU BUY

By HOLLAND.

SOUNDS good, doesn't it? And the best of it is it is true. These cash dividends are paid on every dollar you spend, provided you spend wisely and buy goods that the maker believes in so strongly that he advertises them.

Advertised goods are not always the cheapest so far as the amount asked for them is concerned. But they are INVALUABLY THE BEST. And this makes them cheap when all things are considered.

When you buy for the same money a better article than you have been buying you get a cash dividend on your purchase. When you pay less for an article of the same quality you get a cash dividend.

THESE DIVIDENDS ARE PAID TO THE READERS OF ADVERTISEMENTS IN THIS PAPER.
